

RECESS ROCKSTARS

Giving students jobs at recess will promote a positive play culture and empower them to create their own safe and healthy recess. Here are a few ideas for student jobs at recess:

❑ Rock Paper Scissors Rockstar

This rockstar is in charge of reminding people to play Rock Paper Scissors when there is a disagreement in a game. No disagreements? Their role is to walk around and challenge other students to Rock Paper Scissors.

❑ Lightning Lingo Rockstar:

This rockstar is in charge of bringing the positive voice and spreading the “Good job!” and “Nice try!” mantra throughout the game they are playing.

❑ Equipment Rockstar:

This rockstar is in charge of bringing the equipment out to recess and cleaning up after recess is over.

❑ High-Five Rockstar:

This rockstar is in charge of giving high-fives to everyone to as many high-fives as they can give out! Before recess give them a challenge. If 20 high-fives are too easy, then increase the number to 40 high-fives.

❑ Get-in-the-Game Rockstar:

This rockstar is in charge of looking for people who are not in games and asking them to play. If everyone is in a game, have the rockstar ask people to play a different game and a game they don't play all the time.

Below are badges for you to print out for each of your rockstars so everyone knows their jobs. Consider laminating each badge for multiple uses.
